Conclusion of the series “Loving the World”

When a religious leader asks Jesus to name the most important commandment, Jesus gives an old answer — one that has been around a long time. “You shall love the Lord your God...”. It’s a reminder that the real challenge is not knowing what to do but doing it. What shall we do with what we know?

24th Sunday After Pentecost

All Saints Sunday

We light candles in remembrance of the lives of friends and loved ones. We also gather around the Lord’s Table to remember Jesus and His words of promise: “I am the resurrection and the life” (John 11:25-26, NRSV).

8:45 a.m. – Coffee and Donuts

9:00 a.m. – Bible Study for all ages

10:00 Worship Celebration

Message: “For All the Saints”

(Revelation 21:1-6a; John 11:32-44)

We celebrate the lives of those who’ve died, and the hope we have in Christ. The story of Jesus’ raising of Lazarus sets the tone for reflecting on life, death, and life after death.
